BISHOP

Friends were deeply pained when the end came at 9:53 o'clock Tuesday night at the Catholic rectory.

Father Reynolds's death was due to a stroke of apoplexy early Sunday morning. He had been in poor health for about a year, but during the last four weeks seemed to be in better shape than for some time, so that the sudden attack and death came as a great surprise and shock to his many friends. An operation performed Monday morning failed to give relief, and he died without regaining consciousness.

The Rev. Father Reynolds was born in Baltimore, Md., in 1848. After completing his studies and being ordained, he went to Wheeling, where he spent most of his life. He had hosts of friends and acquaintances in Wheeling, all of whom will learn of his sudden death with deepest regret. After being at the cathedral a number of years, he had a parish at Montgomery, and then he came to Clarksburg as assistant rector to Father O'Connor, and in 1903 became rector himself, after the death of Father O'Connor. December 16, 1903, in the Providence hospital in Baltimore, where an operation was performed for gall stones.

The deceased priest is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Maxwell, of Wheeling; a niece, Mrs. Mary Cole, and a grandniece, Miss Laura Cole, also of Wheeling. All of them were at the bedside when Father Reynolds died.

Father Reynolds was one of the strong and influential members of the Catholic ministry of West Virginia and very popular among not only Catholics but also Protestants as well, and his death is deeply regretted by all who knew him.

THE BEST PEOPLE

Clarksburg Citizens Cannot Doubt It. Doan's Kidney Pills were used—they cured.

The story was told to Clarksburg residents. Time has strengthened the evidence. Has proven the cure permanent. The testimony is home testimony—The proof convincing. It can be investigated by Clarksburg residents.

Mrs. J. W. Harden, 331 Jackson St., Clarksburg, W. Va., says: "I was in poor health for years and I now believe that my kidneys were the cause of all my suffering. I had a dull, bearing-down pain across my loins and at times I was in such bad shape that I could hardly get about. The kidney secretions bothered me, my head ached and my ankles swelled. In the morning when I got up there were puffy spots beneath my eyes. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills which were procured at the City Drug Store, I felt better and today I am enjoying good health. This remedy should be given the entire credit for my great improvement." (Statement given July 8, 1907).

Re-Endorsement.

Mrs. Harden was interviewed on November 21, 1910, and she added to the above: "I take pleasure in confirming all I said about Doan's Kidney Pills when I publicly endorsed them some years ago. I still take this remedy and it keeps my kidneys in good working order."
